

Response to Request for Information

Reference FOI 121517
Date 3 December 2015

Air Conditioning

Request:

You will be aware that all buildings in the UK with more than 12kw of combined air conditioning should have what is called a TM44 Air Conditioning Assessment lodged on the Government Landmark database every 5 years. Your buildings appear to have not got these Certificates and may be unlawful.

When do you intend to get these TM44 surveys undertaken?

Climate change is important, why have you not complied with this Legislation?

Who, specifically, is responsible for this issue; please supply all contact details?

We are compiling a register of non-compliant Organisations, please be aware that your responses will be tracked for use and forwarded to Government Departments.

We are aware of the TM 44 requirements and are working through our list of buildings across the City, as their certificates fall due under the regulations and using our already procured term Air Conditioning assessor we will be taking the relevant action in due course.

This will be done over the next 12 months.

Contact of the management of this is:-
